MODELS OF HIGHER EDUCATION PRACTICE FIT FOR A POST-PANDEMIC WORLD

PANEL OVERVIEW

Prior to the current crisis, the Higher Education sector had begun to recognize the growing need for agile and responsive education and training systems to regularly upskill and reskill the workforce. Changes to the ways of working, living and learning already being wrought by the fourth industrial revolution and artificial intelligence have accelerated over the past eight months, resulting in a growing demand for higher education to support a reformed workforce to build our knowledge, economy and enable us to bounce-forward from this crisis.

TOPICS:

- Future-fit curricula
- Teaching and assessment strategies that prepare students for a reformed workplace and life-long learning
- Development of digital capabilities of students and staff
